FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE 07-088

Governor Palin Urges Public Process in Proposed Beluga Decision

April 20, 2007, Juneau, Alaska – Governor Sarah Palin today voiced her concerns about the implications of the proposed endangered species listing of Cook Inlet's beluga whales. The Governor also encouraged the National Marine Fisheries Service to conduct public hearings on this important issue.

"Listing Cook Inlet beluga as endangered under the Endangered Species Act may have significant implications for activities throughout the Southcentral region of Alaska," said Governor Palin. "We are going to closely review all the scientific information in the proposal and encourage the communities of the Cook Inlet region, as well as fishing and industry groups to express their views."

The State of Alaska shares the National Marine Fisheries Service's concerns for the conservation of the beluga population in Cook Inlet. However, the State is going to closely review all the scientific information in the proposal to be sure it meets the requirements for listing under the Endangered Species Act. Additionally, the State will study whether existing federal law, such as the Marine Mammals Protection Act, provides sufficient protection.

Federal law allows harvest by Alaska Natives only. An agreement to restrict harvest in Cook Inlet was implemented in 1999, but the Cook Inlet belugas have not recovered. No one in the scientific community has been able to identify what is impeding the growth of this population.

Subject: GUEST LIST QUESTION- Friends of the Governor's Mansion Foundation Fundraiser, May 9th, 2007 at the Residence

Hello Governor and Mr. Palin,

The list of lobbyists for the Friends of the Governor's Mansion Foundation Fundraiser are listed below for your review/approval. I've also attached the 2007 Lobbyist Directory in case you wanted the client/employer information. Please let me know if you'd like to make any changes or have any additional guests that you'd like to include.

F.Y.I. - The Foundation pays for the food, beverage, and staff over time expenses, so that it's not an expense that the House incurs. I have a copy of a memorandum from the Department of Law from March 14, 2005 where the question was asked if there would be any Executive Ethics Act (AS 39.52) or other legal concerns presented if the foundation held a fundraiser at the Governor's Mansion and the conclusion (was that the First Lady (Gentleman in this case) is not a "public official" under the Ethics Act, the strictures of the Act do not apply to her/him. The Governor may also host fundraising activities at the residence, and he may freely invite guests and host functions as he/she deems proper. Of course, there is much more information, and this is paraphrased, but I wanted you to be aware of some of the issues that have been addressed. I could fax a copy to you if you'd like.

If at all possible, it would be great to have the final guest list as soon as possible, as May 9th is quickly approaching.

Thank you,
Erika

In addition to Nizich's comments, I would add that sport fishing groups are putting pressure on NOAA to reject one of our candidates in substitution for a sport fishing candidate. We did originally receive a letter from NOAA requesting all user groups be considered including sport fishing when making our selection. We did and forwarded names of individuals that are focused on protecting the best interests of our communities not particular commercial fishing gear types. Ed Rasmussen is currently on the Council and is widely known for being a sport fish advocate.

We are standing by our appointments. We have solicited the assistance of the congressional delegation. Denby is drafting a letter to the Secretary of Commerce to support our candidates and show that all interests are represented. We will ask the Secretary to help ensure that NOAA does not reject our candidates. In addition, we have solicited the assistance of various groups to advocate for our candidates.

The musher is in the lead by at least 1,000 votes. This also tracks with ADN's poll. We are not telling anyone. Meg & Sharon have a great unveiling strategy so we don't want this leaked out.

The event is scheduled at the Alaska Mint. They are extremely excited.

Sharon had a great thought on involving the kids with the actual release of the quarter in the Fall...inviting all schools to participate. Also, I know Sharon is pulling out comments from students for the press conference.

Also if we don't already have a place to unveil the coin selection it would be great to do this with a bunch of kids around. I could easily do this with my brother's fifth grade classroom at Gladys Wood Elem. Outdoors unveiling the design, short and sweet announcement with a very large poster of the chosen selection would be ideal. Let me know. Thanks

Many other schools and or classrooms would accomodate this too.

My son's teacher said their 5th grade class almost unanimously chose the grizzly and that she reported that information to the commission. My question is, who would that be? Can teachers call the information is? And are all 25 students being counted individually, or just as 1?

Not necessarily. And our polling process isn't scientific. And I've been asking school students to give me their input which doesn't nec correspond with the email entries on the state website.

Do we have to go with the musher?

The musher is in the lead by at least 1,000 votes. This also tracks with ADN's poll. We are not telling anyone. Meg & Sharon have a great unveiling strategy so we don't want this leaked out.

The event is scheduled at the Alaska Mint. They are extremely excited.

Sharon had a great thought on involving the kids with the actual release of the quarter in the Fall...inviting all schools to participate. Also, I know Sharon is pulling out comments from students for the press conference.

If anyone has a rough idea on how the coin design vote is going please let me know. Also if we don't already have a place to unveil the coin selection it would be great to do this with a bunch of kids around. I could easily do this with my brother's fifth grade classroom at Gladys Wood Elem. Outdoors unveiling the design, short and sweet announcement with a very large poster of the chosen selection would be ideal. Let me know. Thanks

Many other schools and or classrooms would accomodate this too.
